

*ERD DIAGRAM for the whole system

-ENTITIES AND RELATIONSHIPS

1. Customer MAKES Reservation (1:N)

A customer can make multiple reservations, but each reservation is linked to only one customer.

2. Reservation FOR Vehicle (N:1)

Each reservation is for one vehicle, while a vehicle can be associated with many reservations over time.

3. Reservation HAS Payment (1:1)

Each reservation has exactly one payment, and each payment corresponds to one reservation.

4. Reservation GENERATES RentalAgreement (1:1)

Each reservation generates one rental agreement, and each agreement belongs to one reservation.

5. Customer WRITES Feedback (1:N)

A customer can write multiple feedback entries, but each feedback is linked to one customer.

6. Employee MANAGES Reservation (1:N)

An employee can manage multiple reservations, but each reservation is handled by one employee.

7. Employee UPDATES Vehicle (1:N)

An employee can update multiple vehicles, but each update is performed by one employee.

8. Admin MANAGES Customer (1:N)

An admin can manage multiple customers, but each customer is managed by one admin.

9. Admin MANAGES Employee (1:N)

An admin can manage multiple employees, but each employee is managed by one admin.

10. Admin MANAGES Vehicle (1:N)

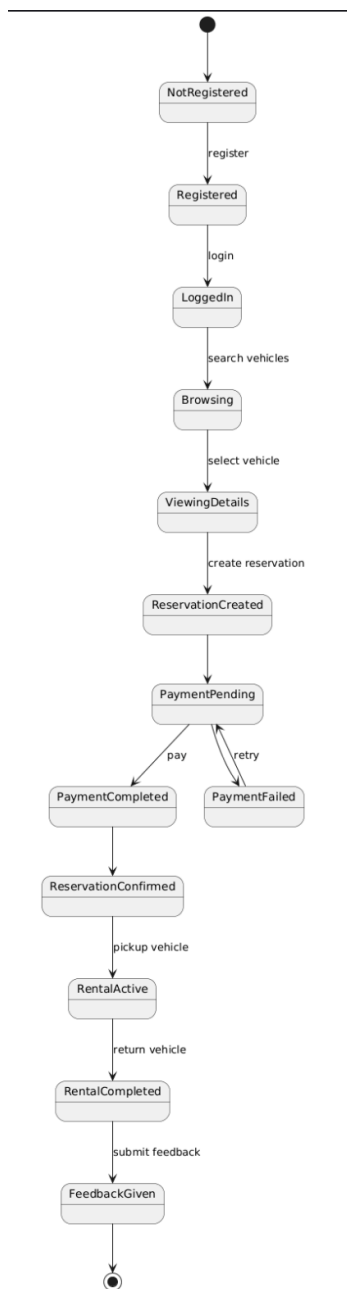

An admin can manage multiple vehicles, but each vehicle is managed by one admin.

11. Vehicle UNDERGOES Maintenance (1:N)

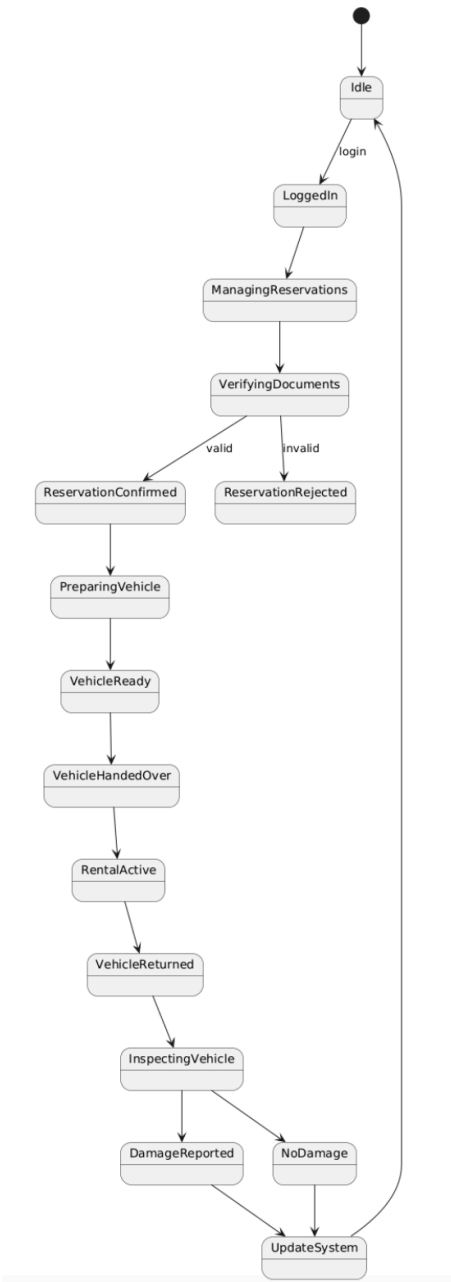

A vehicle can undergo multiple maintenance operations, but each maintenance record belongs to one vehicle.

*State Diagrams for the main objects of the system

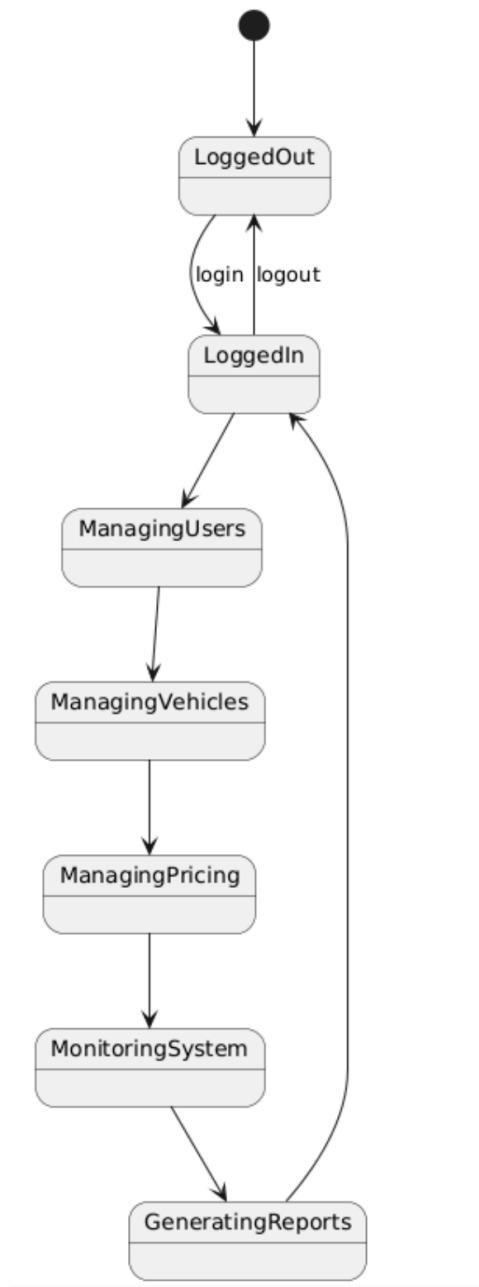

1.State Diagram - Customer

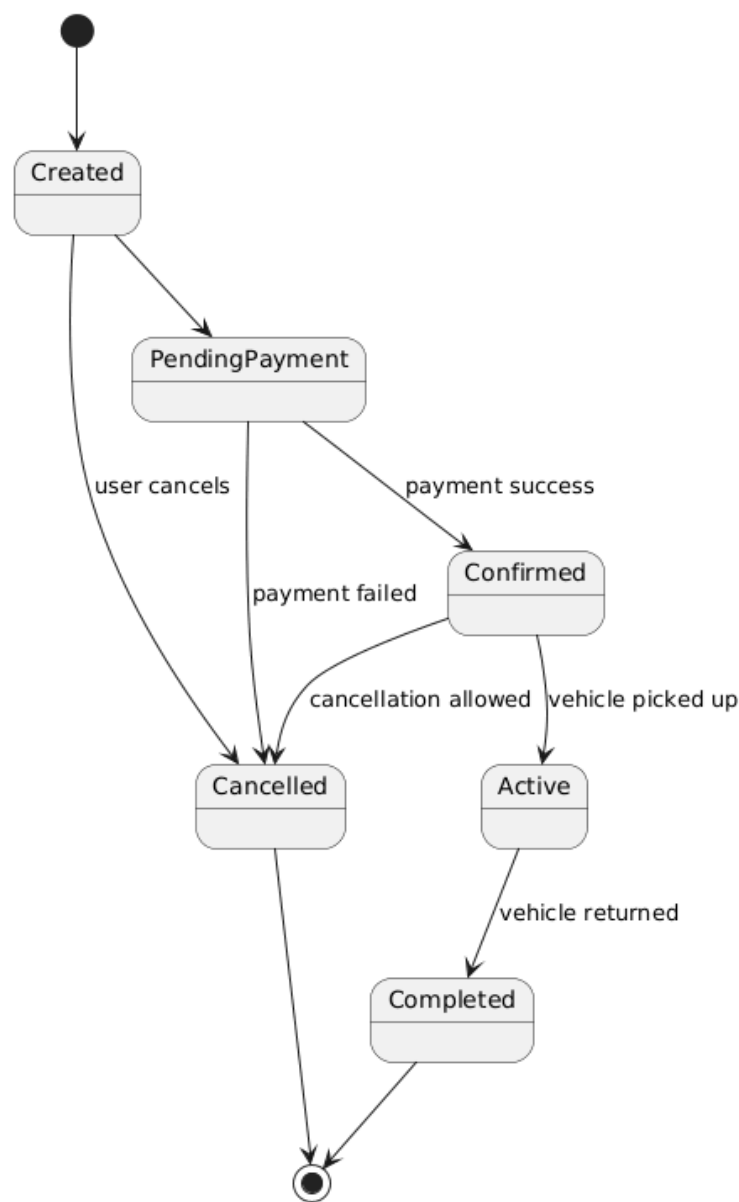

2.State Diagram – Customer

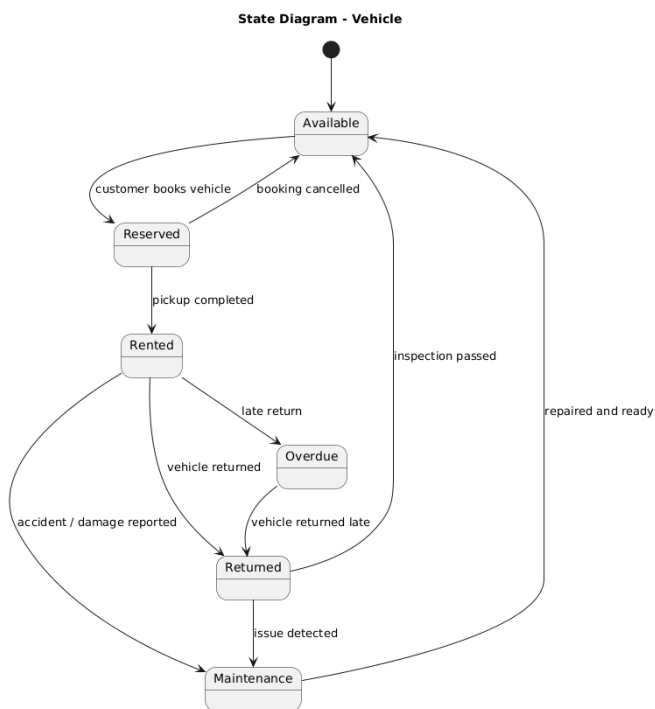

3.State Diagram – Admin

4.State Diagram – Reservation

5.State Diagram – Vehicle

6.State Diagram – Payment

